The Goon BBQ (sometimes called the Hula Hula) is an interactive modular LED lighting system, featuring five rock-solid modules that are all self-contained and connect together to make a single, integrated system. The Goon fits into a standard 55-gallon drum like a can of beans, which is the perfect size for a party, but also small enough to fit on a car deck or picnic table. And you can connect two of them together to create an amazing multi-partitioned light show. Goons are also UL listed for wet locations and UL listed for indoor installations. We also carry Goon accessories, Goon kits, and Goon modules. Goons are available in RGBW, RGB, white, blue, and infrared versions. Goons are also available in a series of different configurations: 2-Goon, 3-Goon, 5-Goon, and 15-Goon. The Goon is a truly modular system: you can use any component that you like, but the Goon's main advantage is in its ability to use any number of components together. The Goon has multiple applications, all of which are currently under development: As an outdoor music lighting show for outdoor weddings As an indoor music lighting show for indoor weddings As a tabletop lighting show for outdoor weddings and parties As an outdoor lighting system for cars and boats Goons are used in most, if not all, of the applications listed above. Other uses of Goon modules include: Swedish party rental Panic room for catacombs Funeral home Institutional settings (or, in the future, the Star Trek Planet of the Apes community centers) Love hotel Strip club Hoverboard rental (suitable for indoor and outdoor use) Goons are a perfect fit for wedding and event venues, but also for offices and homes.
